

ABSTRACT

Influence of signal noise among circuits formed on a semiconductor device is suppressed. When the noise occurs in a circuit block in the semiconductor device of a stacked configuration having a plurality of circuit blocks, the influence of signal noise on the other circuit blocks is suppressed by forming a box mostly made of metal over the circuit
5 block which generates the noises.